Light and Color No.3

The following combinations of color can always be depended upon to give a good impression: Yellow and violet; grey and orange; maroon and gold; orange and black; red and green; pure blue and yellow; orange and blue; tan and crimson; golden brown and scarlet; pink and opal green; buff and blue; gold and green. Gold and grey harmonize well with all colors, but silver and nickel look particularly well against grey or blue.

The greatest caution should be observed in the matter of using colored lamps and colored screens for general illumination. These are permissible only for special effects. A fancy trim involving the light from a fireplace is an example of the use to which red bulbs may be put. Moonlight effects can be obtained by blue colored lamps. However these somewhat fantastic devices should be confined strictly to scenic effects. The pure white light is the standard and effective illumination and displays the attractive colors of a handsome trim as no colored light can possibly do.

When in doubt about your lighting value call 80.

SARCASTIC ANALYSIS

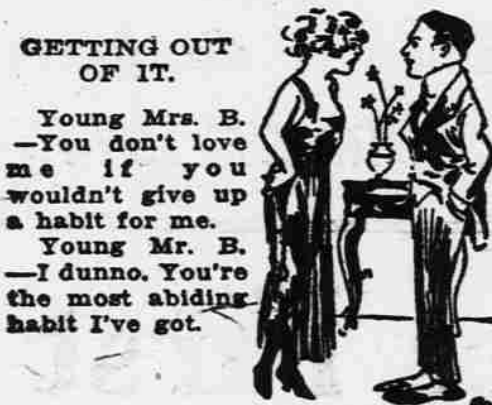

"There is only one good reason when you find a woman who doesn't have her say in everything."
"What is that?"
"When she's dumb."

UP TO THE DOCTOR.

Well, here I am, announced the fashionable physician in his breezy way. And now, what do you think is the matter with you?
Doctor, I hardly know, answered the fashionable patient. What is new?

GETTING OUT OF IT.

Young Mrs. B.—You don't love me if you wouldn't give up a habit for me.
Young Mr. B.—I dunno. You're the most abiding habit I've got.

DISCUSSING AN OVERSIGHT.

Patient.—All right, I'll pay your bill. But I'm telling you, you've made a big mistake.
Doctor.—I think not, sir. What mistake have I made?
Patient.—Why I'll have some money left after paying it.

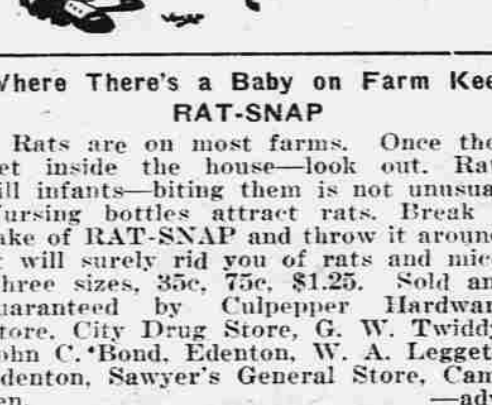

BAG AND BAG-GAGE.

I noticed one thing about hunting trips.
What is that?
The baggage usually amounts to a good deal more than the bag.

NOT A LASTING MARRIAGE.

I am wedded to my art.
It looks as if your art would be a grass widow.

Where There's a Baby on Farm Keep RAT-SNAP

Rats are on most farms. Once they get inside the house—look out. Rats kill infants—biting them is not unusual. Nursing bottles attract rats. Break a cake of RAT-SNAP and throw it around. NOTHING LEFT TO SAY

Mrs. Knott—Didn't your husband rave when you showed him the dress-maker's bill?
Mrs. Spot—Rather.
Mrs. Knott—And how did you quit him?
Mrs. Spot—I showed him the milliner's, and then he became speechless.

NEVER

"What's the name of that man?"
"I don't know."
"But you were introduced to him just a few minutes ago."
"I know I was, but does anybody ever get the name of a man he has just been introduced to?"

DEFINING IT

Tommy—Dad, what is a pessimist?
Dad—A pessimist is a man who would rather read the death notices in a newspaper than the jokes.

WOULD SET HIM FREE

"Your husband is simply a slave to money."
"Well, there are lots of would-be emancipators. You ought to see the wildcat schemes that are mailed to him."

RETOUR COURTEOUS

"I told young Jenkins to go and get some polish on his understanding, and what do you think he did?"
"What did he do?"
"Asked me if I meant an intellectual shine or shoe polish."

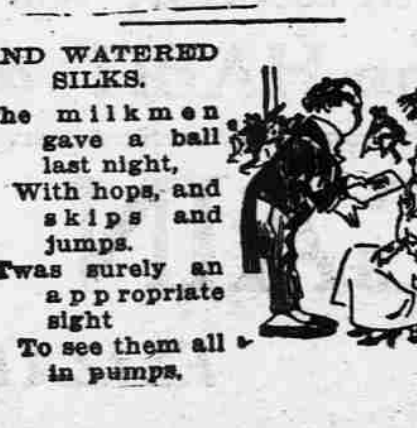

AND WATERED SILKS.

The milkmen gave a ball last night.

With hope, and skips and jumps.

'Twas surely an appropriate sight

To see them all in pumps.

The "Seven Sleepers." They were the heroes of an ancient legend. It is supposed that during the persecution of the Christians about 250 A. D. these seven Christian brothers of Ephesus took refuge in a cave. Their retreat was discovered and the mouth of the cave was walled up. Two hundred years later the cave was accidentally opened and the men emerged, having slept through centuries as though they were but a single night. They found the Christian religion accepted in the city where they were honored and feted and where all of them died on the same day.
